

Jordan Walker

Manager, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

Co-Chair Energy and Environmental Justice

Consumers Energy

Transformational Leader | Strategist | Organizational Change Agent

With a deep commitment to fostering inclusive workplaces and driving meaningful cultural transformation, Jordan Walker is an experienced leader in diversity, equity, and inclusion. Over the years, Walker has developed and led enterprise-wide strategies to foster belonging and equitable solutions for coworkers, customers, and communities of Consumers Energy.

Currently serving as Manager of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and Co-Chair, Energy and Environmental Justice at Consumers Energy, Walker works closely with executive leadership, to transform company processes to create equitable impacts for internal and external stakeholders. Numerous times, Walker has directed cross-functional teams toward data-driven outcomes and meaningful engagement including through high-impact employee resource programs, executive council, and an innovative Inclusion Champion program alliance with union partners.

Prior to diversity, equity, and inclusion, Walker cultivated expertise in recruitment, talent development, university relations, and leadership coaching. As University Relations and Intern Program Lead at Consumers Energy, she focused on developing a strong talent pipeline through campus partnerships and dynamic internship programs.

Walker holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Central Michigan University. Her professional approach blends strategic vision, relationship-building, and operational execution to advance belonging and accessibility outcomes. Passionate about creating transformative people-centered change, Walker remains dedicated to building environments where every individual feels valued, empowered, and included.